ABOUT THE STATE

Happenings of Interest from Different Sections.

For 20 years J. H. Martin has been janitor of the First Congregational church in Newport.

Mrs. Carrie Moore has in her home at Wardsboro a calla lily bearing two large blossoms in one. Attorney Robert C. Bacon of Brattle-boro has been seriously ill with influenza, with a high temperature. The American house at St. Albans which has been closed for several months, will soon be reopened and will be in charge of W. H. Larry, formerly pro-prictor of the Central house in that city. Vandals and thieves broke into the Salvation Army hall at Burlington Sunday night and destroyed or carried away Christmas toys, candies and other articles to the value of $50 or more.

Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Macomber celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary at their home in Westford Dec. 28. Their marriage took place Oct. 20 and the observance would have occurred then had it not been for influenza conditions.

Baptist church services in Richford had to be held in the town hall last Sunday as the night before a fire which started near the furnace made its way to the auditorium and caused considerable loss. The pipe organ was badly damaged.

Axel Carlson, 10, who says he lives in New York City and is on a touring expedition, visited Bellows Falls Saturday and was arrested that evening, charged with taking from the money drawer of the street railway company about $17 in Austine Institution at Brattleboro Struggles with Increased Costs.

The third biennial report of the Austine institution of Brattleboro, for deaf pupils, has been issued. It shows that of peace may find them without any for 1917 the number of Vermont state military organization of their own. In beneficiaries was 37 and for the past year Massachusetts, for example, there is at 30. The difference is nearly all due to the fact that in 1917, owing to the per capita cost of maintaining the depart-ment for the blind, that department was given up, which took away six pupils. In each year there were nine pupils from New Hampshire.

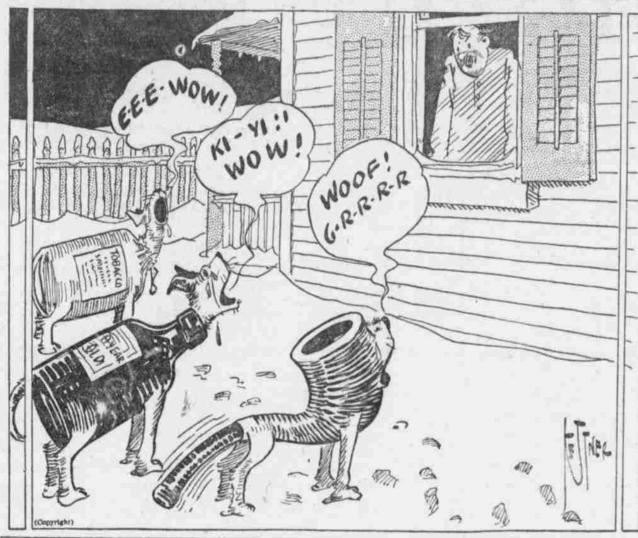

The school is maintained in part by the state and in part by an endowment, and some private pupils are taken, who are called full-paid pupils. In their refuel has considerably increased the cost pages. of maintenance, but that the careful been kept as small as possible. The report continues: "Because of this unavoidable increase in cost an advance must be made in our charges or a deficit will be incurred."

The booklet contains a list of the officers and faculty, reports of the attending physicians, Dr. Winfred R. Lane, and surgeon, George R. Anderson, the principal, Miss Helen G. Empty Guard Ranks.

The ruling with regard to former National Guardsmen in federal service-that, when discharged from the army, they will become civilians and not revert to their National Guard statusmay have little importance to the individuals concerned, but has a good deal of importance to the various states of the union.

For them it means that the coming pected that the career of the state guard will be over.

Then Massachusetts may for the first ime find herself without a military auxiliary to her police power. The "organ-ized militia" traces its unbroken history from the earliest days. That peronnel may readily be found again by the enlistment of old members or of new members in the old National Guard organizations. The recruiting would naturally be encouraged because of the present availability of trained officers as commanders.

It is in accordance with the American tradition and American spirit for states to have their own little armies; it is a part of their state sovereignty. The principal use of the militia might be to information, acknowlegdements of gifts put down violence, for which federal and courtesies, the acts relating to the arms would also serve, but the states One 2-horse wagon, 2 bug and courtesies, the acts relating to the duration of deaf and blind children, and have susually preferred to do their own 2-horse sled, 1 hand sled, 1 sleigh, 1 pung.
